The neighbourhood of Panchgani and sites to serene

Panchgani is a popular highland retreat for city-weary vacationers, and it's only a few hours drive from Mumbai and Pune. From trekking and hiking routes to spots like Sydney Point and Parsi Point, to adventure sports and water sports at the Dhom Dam, Panchgani offers something for everyone.

On the way to Panchgani, Wai has attractions such as Mapro Food Park and Mahaganapati Mandir. Panchgani is only a short distance from Mahabaleshwar, another beautiful hill station. Staying at our Panchgani hotel gives you access to a wide range of sporting opportunities with the best facilities as the best hotel in Panchgani.

Have a quick view of the main attractions of Panchgani

- Sydney Point is a hilltop that overlooks the Krishna Valley.
- Table Land is best visited in early winter when the monsoon grass is still there and the land is not as slick as it is during the rainy season.
- Parsi Point: On the route to Mahabaleshwar, this lovely picnic area overlooks the Krishna valley and the blue glittering water of the Dhom Dam.
- Devil's Kitchen: The Pandavas from the Mahabharat epic are said to have stayed here and prepared their meals. Pandavgad Caves are also reported to have been created by them (near Wai).
- Mala's Fruit Products: Mala's is known for producing some of India's greatest jams. The term "JAM" was coined by Malas in India. Panchgani is Mala's Fruit's hometown.
